Non-Credit Online Program

REQUIRED COURSES (All Courses begin the second Monday of the Month)

Leading Others Whether or Not You're the Boss

What is leadership? Where does the leader's ability to influence others come from? What are the qualities that enable people to lead? And, perhaps more to the point ...can ANYONE become a leader? This interactive, online course explores your definition of leadership, asks you to analyze the work of leaders around you, and engages you in developing a plan for yourself that will enhance your ability to lead effectively.

Instructor: Jeffrey Russell; Start date: October 10, 2011

Constructing Clear Verbal Messages

Learn key skills that will help you communicate more effectively by taking a look at the communication process and assessing your own communication skills. It's not always the words you use, but how you say them that give them true meaning!

Instructor: Kim Schwamn; Start date: November 14, 2011

ELECTIVES (CHOOSE ONE - All Courses begin the second Monday of the Month)

Creating a Motivating Environment

Whether you are a team player, leader, supervisor or manager, you can have an influence in creating a motivating environment. Given the right set of conditions, tools and the right environment, all employees can become more motivated, empowered and productive. If you're ready to receive a booster shot of motivation, this course is for you!

Instructor: Stuart Fields; Start date: September 12, 2011

Problem Solving and Decision Making

Why don't many of the "solutions" that we implement in the face of a problem work? What gets in the way of effective problem solving and decision making? See how a thoughtful and systematic process makes all the difference. This course presents a model for problem solving and decision-making, and introduces an array of tools that you can apply to your own situations.

Instructor: Jeffrey Russell; Start date: January 9, 2012

Effective Business Writing

Good, strong business writing is like a long, cold drink of water – refreshing! This course will help you generate ideas, organize them, and write more efficiently, expressing your ideas in ways that gain the attention, support and respect of others.

Instructor: Janice Marshall; Start date: February 13, 2012

Building and Sustaining Teamwork

Why teamwork? What's in it for me (WIIFM)? This course will take you beyond WIIFM and into the realm of "What's in it for the greater good?" Learn methods and techniques to strengthen your individual skills as a team player, and examine ways to build and sustain teamwork within your work environment.

Instructor: Stuart Fields; Start date: April 9, 2012

Understanding and Managing Conflict

This interactive session on managing conflict is designed to help you better understand the meaning, nature and root causes of conflict and its major effects on organizations and individuals. You will receive feedback on your personal style of handling conflict, gain a clearer understanding of the steps for analyzing and resolving conflict and learn effective strategies for bargaining and negotiating conflict resolution for a WIN/WIN solution.

Instructor: Jeffrey Russell; Start date: March 12, 2012
